GRAND CHAMPION PEN of the sheep division in the Will County 4-H show—Suffolk lambs they are—is owned by Gail Chestnut, left, of Mokena, a member of the New Lenox Hay Shakers 4-H. In the actual showing, of course, she had to have assistance because there isn't any human being able to show three lambs at the same time all by himself or herself. The two volunteers who donated their services so this picture could be taken are Karla Peterson, of Naperville, a member of Plainfield Pepsters 4-H, and Robert Stewart, of Plainfield, who showed the grand champion lamb. ## 4-H Show Winners Eye State Fair Competitions

The annual Will County 4-H Fair, which has been growing steadily over the years, was larger than ever last week.

It is difficult to count attendance at this event because there are no tickets and spectators come and go but it was estimated that thousands flocked to Francis 4-H Field in New Lenox Township to see host of exhibits grown or made by the boys and girls who make up 4-H clubs in the county. Now many of them are planning exhibits at the state fair in Springfield this month.

The previous week the grounds were utilized for the South Cook County 4-H Fair.

The Will County show opened on Tuesday and closed last Thursday night. It seemed there was something of everything. There were the livestock exhibits, the poultry, rabbits, crops, garden produce, flowers, dresses, food exhibits, tractor driving, home and room planning, bikes, forestry, electricity, entomology, photography, bird studies, geology, gun safety, soil and water conservation studies, small engines, baby sitting classes, and on and on.

More than 400 girls took part in a style show the opening day of the fair and the winners were announced on Thursday night. Barbara Harris, assistant extension adviser, announced that 11 Will County girls will model clothes at the Illinois State Fair Aug. 16: Janet Ondersin, Lockport, Sue Fitzer, Gail Lewis, Cindy Sprague, Joliet; Dorita Fuller, Peotone; Nancy Woodard, Plainfield; Dorine Hauert, Pam Pettigrew, Elwood, and Diane Butterfield, Karen Rutledge and Cathy Simpson, of Wilmington. Sandra Albers, Monee, will enter a garment in the Buy Clothing competition, and a gray wool designer dress made by Evelyn Conner, Manhattan, will be in the clothing construction competition at Springfield.

In the swine competition, which had 134 entries, Gary Anderson, of Mokena, exhibited the grand champion market hog, and was also named junior champion swine showman; Norbert Brockmann, Frankfort, was champion senior showman. James Baker, Manhattan, had the champion Duroc boar and champion Duroc gilt.

Kenneth Krapf, Manhattan, was top tractor operator, and Edwin Moore, also of Manhattan, was runner-up.

There were 94 entries in the dairy division. John Goodwin, Wilmington, showed the junior and senior champion Brown Swiss females. The senior champion Holstein female was shown by Gerald Heisner, of Beecher. Goodwin and Heisner were both repeaters. Allen Asbrand, Peotone showed the junior champion Holstein female. Kent Heisner and John Heisner, both of Peotone, repeated again this year and junior and senior champion showmen, respectively.

The grand champion market lamb was shown by John Chestnut Jr., Mokena, at the spring Market Lamb Show June 11 at Francis Field.

There were 137 entries in the beef show judged last Thursday. This is beginning to be a girl's world. Last year Maureen Kennedy showed the grand champion and reserve grand champion. This year it was a Shorthorn selected as the champion and a Hereford as reserve champion but they belonged to Maureen. In 1966 it was Patti Lewis, of Plainfield, who had the grand champion and her sister the reserve champion. In 1965 a Shorthorn owned and shown by Jill Swanson, Homer Township, took the top prize and it was her sister that year that had the reserve champion.

The champion Shorthorn female was shown by David Kohl, Mokena; the champion Angus female by John Francis, and the champion Hereford female by Gary Lestina, also of Wilmington. Steven Smith, Mokena, had the grand champion junior feeder. The junior feeders were judged at their home farms.

Mark Ebert, Mokena, was selected as senior champion beef showman while the junior showman award went to Jill Swanson.

Gary Schroeder, New Lenox, is to represent Will County in the single agricultural demonstration at the state fair; Alice Jones and Elaine Urbano, both of Frankfort, in the arts and crafts exhibits; John Heisner, Peotone, master of ceremonies contest, with John Chestnut Jr., Mokena, as first alternate.

Aphids Threaten Frankfort Corn

Beset by aphids that left alone will sterilize the plant at the tassel stage, the corn crop is threatened in the Frankfort area.

Last Sunday some farmers had their fields sprayed from the air. A.A. Wicklein, farm adviser, said that malathion is the chemical used to eradicate these aphids at the rate of four ounces an acres.

The Frankfort area appears to be more or less isolated as far as this aphid infestation is concerned at the present time.

"Lack of rain is the big reason why the area is hit," Wicklein said. "Wind and heavy rain rids the corn of the pests. The Frankfort area has lacked that sort of weather.

"These aphids are nothing new," Wicklein went on. "I know they have been present in the county since I came here and no doubt were here before that. They appear about the time when the tassel is about to emerge. That is the part of the plant they attack and they do sterilize it so there is no pollination."

"Dollar corn," complained one farmowner, "and now one is going to have to add more to the cost of raising a crop if he has to hire a plane to spray his fields."

What the Frankfort area needs now, it was pointed out, is a "gully-washer."

Home Owners Complain Of Mosquitos, Trash

* Thursday, August 1, 1968 GRAPHIC NEWSPAPERS Page 3

A delegation of home owners from the Cherry Hill Estates subdivision south of Washington St., a part of the village of New Lenox, appeared before the board of trustees at their regular meeting on Wednesday night (July 24) to protest the dumping of trash in a nearby quarry.

There is some garbage dumped there too, the delegation told the village board. There is water in the quarry that serves as a spawning bed for mosquitos, the complainants said, adding that the mosquitos were worse than the smell.

Robert Brown, civil engineer who has been hired as village manager, was instructed by Mayor Joseph Hartung in behalf of the board, to make a complete investigation and report back at the Aug. 7 meeting with a remedy for the problem.

Brown reported there is a break in some of the sewer tile on Elm St. and recommended that smoke tests be made to determine the extent of the damage. He estimated the tests would cost about $500. He also reported that developers of the Kimber subdivision had substituted two 24-inch tile for two 48-inch tile they were told to use in carrying off storm water. It would take eight 24-inch tile to do the work, he said. So if the developer sticks with the 24-inch size tile he is going to have to use six more of them, it was pointed out. There is practically a small stream flowing at times at the west end, it was said, necessitating the large size tile.

The village board instructed the attorney to draw up a curfew ordinance similar to those enacted in other communities which gives the mayor authority to establish curfew hours in the event of any disorder or disaster.

The attorney also was instructed to slap liens on property where the owners are delinquent in their sewer bills of $60 or more.

Village Attorney Wayne Johnson has other work in the hopper also, revision of the building code and regulations for the retail sale of alcoholic beverages.

Bids for installation of sewer mains in the Francis Rd., - Cedar Rd., - Elm Drive, - Inner Court area recently annexed are slated to be opened at the village hall at 2:30 p.m. Aug. 7.

The contract with Columbian Securities has been signed relative to the preparation and sale of bonds to finance the proposed central water system for the village. There is a clause in the instrument under which it can be terminated if the arrangements are not completed by Nov. 30, 1968.

Where The Action Is

When the lambs come bouncing in...

Some people --not sheep raisers--pass up the sheep and lamb judging at fairs because they are under the impression that sheep are dull and uninteresting.

Sheep may be dull, they may be stupid, but they have zip. As the current jargon has it--sheep judging is where the action is.

Pigs have a touch of go-go and when they go they are difficult to stop. Cattle--fortunately for those who attend stockshows are slower in their movements. With their size they could strew spectators all over the place if they entered or left a show ring at the speed they are capable of displaying.

But the lambs really take off.

The Will County 4-H Fair sheep show is one of the finest in the state, according to Sherwood Jackson, of Seneca, a sheep raiser and former agriculture teacher, who judged the event at Francis 4-H Field last week.

It would appear that a sheep or lamb handler at a show should have quick, strong hands and arms. As a matter of fact it takes quite a bit of overall muscle. They don't have halters or any other device on a sheep to control its moves. The handler does all that with his hands. He brings the sheep into the ring, or maybe the sheep brings him in, with the handler's hands in front of the animal's throat.

Sometimes a sheep leaps practically straight up, sometimes the leap is long but always sudden. Sometimes a handler regains control by getting a firm grip, fore and aft. Sometimes he has to make a flying tackle. Sometimes bystanders, usually knowing in the way of sheep, come surging to the rescue and three or four of them catch an animal in mid-air.

Everyone seems to enjoy it, the spectators, the handlers and the sheep.

The grand champion of the Will County 4-H sheep show was a Hampshire ewe, shown by Robert Stewart, of Plainfield, a member of the Wide County 4-H Club.

Gail Chestnut, of Mokena, a member of the New Lenox Hay Shakers 4-H, had the grand champion pen of three Suffolfs.

Clark Shaw, Monee, was the champion junior showman and Roger Hack, of Peotone, the senior champion showman in the sheep division.

On the left is a Brown Swiss, owned and shown by John Goodwin, of Wilmington, while the Holstein on the right is the property of Gerald Heisner, of Beecher, and a member of the Peotone Pep Pushers 4-H. Both boys showed the :967 champions in these same breeds. Young Goodwin was a double repeater. He also showed the junior champion Brown Swiss last year and this. (Graphic Newspapers photo)

Hold Final Rites For R.J. McCleary; Former Trustee

Robert J. McCleary, 49, 917 Cedar Rd., New Lenox, was killed Tuesday afternoon, July 23, in a two car accident in front of his home.

McCleary was alone in his car when the crash occurred during a hard storm. Coroner Willard G. Blood said death was due to internal injuries. An inquest will be conducted. A mother and her three daughters in the other car were injured and treated at Silver Cross Hospital. They were Mrs. Wilbur Heisner of Manhattan, and daughters, Gayle, 12, Donna, 16, and Joan, 14.

A native of Letts, Ia., McCleary lived most of his life in New Lenox. For the past 25 years he was a former Asst. Cashier at the New Lenox State Bank, but had been on leave of absence since May due to ill health.

He also served as village clerk for 20 years, retiring from the post a year ago.

The village board had scheduled a meeting for Wednesday night, but, after roll call, called a recess so the members could attend the wake. The board is preparing a resolution in plaque form to be presented to his widow.

During World War II he served with the Seabees in the Pacific. He was a member of the Anderson VFW Post and the New Lenox United Methodist Church.

Besides his wife, Jean

(nee Fitzer), he is survived by two daughters, Dawn and Mrs. Allan (Diane) Mager of Frankfort; his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Osmus of New Lenox and St. Petersburg, Fla.; a sister, Mrs. Dorothy Van Horn of Plainfield; and one grandchild.

Removal was to the Baskerville Chapel, New Lenox, where services were held Thursday, July 25, at 2:00 p.m. with the Rev. Herbert George of the New Lenox Methodist Church officiating. Burial was in Maplewood Cemetery, New Lenox.

Two-Car Collision Kills 1, Injures 3

One person is dead and three others injured, one critically, as a result of a collision of two automobiles on U.S. 30 last Sunday night, at the Cherry Hill Rd. intersection.

Dead is Dr. Anastasia W. Vance, 77, a retired optometrist, of Florida, who was visiting relatives in Joliet.

The injured include two residents of New Lenox, Mrs. Dorothy Lewis, 43, of 1444 N. Cedar, and Wendy Cooper, 17, of 1507 N. Cedar. The condition of both is reported as fairly good. The other injured person, whose condition is reported as critical is Mrs. May W. Hines, 83, of 244 Fairbanks Av., Joliet. All three are in Silver Cross Hospital, Joliet, with Mrs. Hines in the intensive care section.

Both of her legs are broken and she also has chest and head injuries. Mrs. Lewis has a broken knee and facial and head cuts and Miss Cooper has a neck injury and facial cuts.

Mrs. Hines was driving one car, according to Coroner Willard G. Blood, and Mrs. Lewis the other. Mrs. Vance came to Joliet on Tuesday of last week to visit her sister, Mrs. Hines. They had been visiting relatives Sunday and were returning to the Hines home about 9:30 that evening when the collision took place. Mrs. Hines made a left turn onto U.S. 30 from Cherry Hill Rd. to go west. Mrs. Lewis was traveling east on the highway. The two cars met at the intersection. Mrs. Vance was hurled out of the car to the pavement. She suffered multiple fractures and was believed to have been instantly killed. Mrs. Hines also was thrown out of the car by the impact, it was reported.

There were two children in the Lewis car, Linda Lewis, 9, and Patricia Walker, 8, of 203 Westport Drive, Joliet. They apparently escaped unhurt.

MAUREEN TAKES IT AGAIN -- Maureen Kennedy, (right) of the Homer Fire Flies 4-H Club repeated her feat of last year when her beef calves won the grand and reserve grand championships in the Will County 4-H Fair. There was a difference, however. Last year it was a Hereford that was grand champion. This year a Hereford was the reserve grand champion, and is being held while the picture was taken by Patty Kennedy, a sister of Maureen who is standing beside the 1968 grand champion, a Shorthorn. The Kennedys live in Homer Township. (Graphic Newspapers photo)

Auto, Train Collide: 2 Women Hurt

Mrs. Willard Munch, 53, of 2453 Dougall Rd., Cherry Hill, formerly of Mokena, and her daughter, Mary Ann, 18, were injured last Thursday morning when the car in which they were riding struck an east bound New York Central freight train on the Cherry Hill crossing between Washington St. and U.S. 30.

Both were taken to St. Joseph hospital in the Baskerville ambulance. Both complained of head injuries but after treatment they were released.

According to the report at the sheriff's office the collision took place about 7:35 a.m. The signal bells for the crossing were ringing and the train was on the crossing when it was hit by the car, the report states. Miss Munch was driving. The car was traveling south on Cherry Hill Rd. The engineer of the train was Elmer A. Scott, 56, of Niles, Mich.

Mr. Minch is a former village trustee of Mokena. The family moved nearer Joliet when he moved his wholesale electrical supply business to that city.

Her bouffant veil of silk illusion featured a headpiece of lace encrusted with pearls and crystal beads, forming a large flower. Her bouquet was of white and yellow daisies and tiny white roses.

Helen Ann Gullicksen Is Wed To Gary Mings

Helen Ann Gullicksen became the bride of Gary E. Mings at an 8 p.m. candlelight service, on Saturday, June 8, in the New Lenox Methodist Church. Rev. Herbert George and Rev. Ernest Bradley, uncle of the bridegroom, performed the double-ring ceremony before the altar decorated with a bouquet of white gladiolas accented with yellow roses.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Mokena Volunteer Fire Department is inviting the public to attend its ice cream social this Sunday, Aug. 4, in the Fire House on Front St.

Serving will be from 3 o'clock in the afternoon to 7:00 in the evening. To go with the ice cream will be homemade cakes and homemade pies. Proceeds will be applied on expenses of the Auxiliary's Halloween Costume dance to be held Oct. 26. Joan Yunker is chairman of the social.

Norman Strassenberg, general chairman of the Fourth of July festival sponsored by the Mokena Lions, reported practically every member of the club did the job he was asked to do. Total gross income was $11,889.19 and the expense was approximately $8,802 which gave the Lions a net gain of around $3,087, it was reported.

The Lions annual steak-fry will be held tonight, Aug. 1 in North Van Horne Woods, starting at 6:30 o'clock.

Two Mokena students, Dale M. Smith, 20011 Scott St., majoring in mathematics, and Kenneth A. Corniels, 11211 W. 192d St., a chemistry major, were named to the Dean's List, for the second semester of the 1967-68 academic year at Illinois Institute of Technology.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Geuther returned this week from a month's tour in South America. Departing from New York they made the first stop in Brasilia, the planned capital city of Brazil, designed and started under President Kubitschek in 1960 to stimulate the development of the interior of Brazil. From there they flew to Rio de Janeiro for five days in and around the city that is home to the famous statue of Christ the Redeemer and Sugar Loaf mountain in the bay. Sugar Loaf is reached by cable car from the mainland. Buenos Aires was next on the itinerary with Mr. Geuther spending a day on a modern dairy farm producing certified milk for the B.A. market. Buenos Aires is also home to an unusual educational experiment in which all intermediate grade children are taken to a miniature city, called Children's City where they live for 10 days, making the laws, dispensing justice, managing money and participating in religious life. The place looks like a small Disneyland but the activities are serious.

LaPaz, Bolivia was next. This city has the highest airport in the world, 13,300 feet above sea level. The city itself is 95 percent Indian still living as they have for hundreds of years. It is from here that many tourists to Machu Picchu, certainly the highlight of any trip to South America. This is the lost city of the Incas that was discovered by Hiram Bingham in 1911. The stone ruins stand in almost perfect condition, just as they were left in 1533 when the Spaniards invaded the territory to take the gold from the Indians. Only the thatch roofs are gone from the temples and dwellings.

In Lima the Geuthers were able to get some first hand information on the relief and mission work being done by the World Council of Churches and the Maryknoll Priests. This was also true in Ecuador where a Brethren Mission study group were headquartered at the same hotel as the Geuthers. This coincidence made it possible to observe some of the work of the Andean Indian Mission. Like all tourists this trip included a trip to the Equator where the Lions have installed benches where weary travelers can sit a while.

The last stop was in Bogota, Columbia to see the Gold Museum where 70 million dollars of Inca Gold artifacts are on display and to visit the Cathedral in the salt mines. This cathedral is two miles inside a working salt mine; it will accommodate 8,000 worshippers at one time. The walls and altar are salt in its crude form. South America has been little affected by tourism up to this point; however there are many signs of a developing economy in all of the countries visited. The Geuthers reported the United States looked mighty good after 30 days in the Southern hemisphere.

Fifteen members of the Mokena Keenettes 4-H club won blue ribbons in the food contests. Winners in the Learn to Bake division were, Theresa Armstrong, Debbie Culbertson, Fern Doyle, Susan Rourke, Ruth Ebert, Laura Gickalic, Lynn Ekstrom, Laura Lankenau, Laura Sans, Paulette Wellman, Karen Sands, Kathy Farmer, Susan Schulz and Debbie Backhus. Winner in Its Fun to Cook was Cathy Warning and Theresa Armstrong also won a blue ribbon and the Bankers Award for her food demonstration.

YOUNGSTERS LISTEN as Elaine Reckhamer, Mokena librarian, reads to them at the weekly story hour which is held in the district public library every Saturday morning from 10 to 11 o'clock. The library also is offering a summer reading program, with prizes for children in grades four thru eight.

The Boy Scouts of Troop 10 are in the midst of their summer campout at the new camp Morris Boy Scout camp. Tonight is family night at camp. The families are invited to come out to camp and have dinner with the boys at 6 o'clock. Dinner is Dutch Treat with each family providing enough food to take care of its own group. After dinner there will be an indian ceremony installing some of the boys into the "Order of the Arrow".

The evening will be brought to a close at approximately 9 o'clock so that the families will not be out too late and the children will not get too miserable.

The boys will return home after their week on Saturday, probably bushed, but smiling.

Bridget Tonra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Tonra of Pine Ave., celebrated her fifth birthday with a children's party recently including some of her playmates.

Mr. and Mrs. Hovi, Hickory Street, had a weeks visit from Mrs. Hovi's sister, Mrs. Walters and her two children, while they were enroute to their new home at Houston, Tex.

The Archie Estes family on Oak Street has had a busy time this summer with an assortment of welcome guests.

Their son, Spec. 4 John B. Estes spent a two week furlough at home, returning to camp at Fort Carson on July 15.

Their daughter, Phylis and her husband Greg Johnston and granddaughter also came up from Quincy, Ill. to visit the old homestead.

Archie's mother, Mrs. Sarah Carter, also made a trip here from Ventura, Calif., where she resides.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Roganlie, former Hickory St. residents of Arbury Hills stopped off at the Estes home, while enroute to their new home in San Francisco from their present home in Alexandria, Va. Sounds like a busy, happy summer at the Estes home!

Miss Sarah Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rose on Willow Lane, was honored with a miscellaneous shower on Sunday, July 21, for the bride-to-be. Hostesses were Elnora Scott and Eula Rose.

About 25 guests were present. Decorations for the shower were pink and white. Refreshments included punch and cake. Miss Rose will become the bride of Kenneth Staley on Friday, August 2, 1968.

Dead Ends Trap Driver After Chase

The parade of speeding cars thru Mokena Sunday night ended a couple of miles further on in a cornfield bordering I-80 on 104th St.

The car in front carried a Joliet man and two young girls. The cars that followed were police vehicles.

The fugitive, Anthony Hardy, 20, of 420 Patterson Rd., faces charges of driving while his license was revoked, reckless driving and attempting to elude police.

The chase began on the northeast side of Joliet, with police from New Lenox, Frankfort and Mokena, the state and county participating. Hardy apparently thought he could ditch his pursuers by turning north on 104th St., only to find he was surrounded by dead ends with retreat cut off by road blocks.

Hardy is said to have come out of his car fighting but was lulled to sleep by a county officer.

New Test Forecasts Heart Attacks

Copyright 1968 World Book Science Service

Predicting a possible heart attack within a specified length of time may sound like crystal ball-gazing instead of medical practice.

Yet Dr. Gunnar Sevelius of the University of Oklahoma, using a precise mathematical formula called a prognostic index (PI), can now tell with better than 70 per cent accuracy whether a patient will have a coronary attack within six months after his painless, 15-minute test. Recently, he explained his seven-year research at an Aerospace Medical Association meeting.

The test, a part of the program of the university's Neurocardiology Center and funded by the National Institutes of Health's National Heart Institute, is done by means of radiocardiography.

To obtain his radiocardiogram he injects a minute amount of radioactive iodine serum albumin rapidly into a vein of the forearm so that it will travel as a small, rounded mass through the bloodstream. By using a scintillation detector (medical Geiger counter) to trace the passage of the radioactive material through the heart, he obtains a time-activity-curve record that measures heart output, blood flow rate, heart volume and blood volume. These readings he then computes against normal standards to determine each patient's PI.

His prognoses, he says, are far more accurate than the usual methods of predicting heart attacks, which use variables of age, chol-

Medical MEMO

By BETTY JOHN

Betty John, author of "Medical Memo," is the wife of Dr. Henry J. John, noted diabetic specialist and former chief of the endocrine section of the Cleveland Clinic. With her husband, she founded the world's first camp for diabetic children and, in 1942, helped establish the first American Red Cross Blood Donor Service as executive secretary of that organization. In 1945 she served as a war correspondent for the now defunct Cleveland News, and she has since continued her writing career in the fields of nature and medicine.

esterol levels and blood pressure. In order to test the accuracy of his calculations he matched, person for person, 60 patients with coronary heart disease who had histories of one or more heart attacks with 60 healthy persons with respect to age, sex, and build.

Of those told they were likely not to have an attack within the next six months, none did. Seventy percent of those told they probably would have, did, and five had heart attacks shortly after the six-month period. The greatest importance of his work, Dr. Sevelius believes, is preventing or delaying the heart attacks by rest and proper medication, if the doctor knows in time that his patient is in a high risk period.

INSTANT HOSPITALS - The U.S. Public Health Service now has stored in Oklahoma and Iowa smaller versions of its 200-bed nuclear attack "Packaged Disaster Hospital." These are 50-bed "Natural Disaster Hospitals" which can be flown quickly to any disaster area and set up within minutes.

UNIVERSAL VACCINE - Dr. Frank M. Berger, head of Wallace Laboratories, has isolated a new substance called protodyne, from which he may be able to develop a vaccine that should protect people from both bacterial and viral infections. Much work needs to be done before clinical use.

CANCER TEST - Dr. Robert Hilker of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company says that some 3,000 women employees made use of a "do-it-yourself-test-kit" for cancer of the cervix that proved as accurate as Pap smears taken in doctors' offices. Dr. Hugh J. Davies of Johns Hopkins developed the test material.

DEATH AND THE EDUCATED MAN - A study made at the University of Chicago shows that the death rate is lower in the higher levels of educated people.

The Junior Scientist Your Friend, The Robot

Copyright 1968 World Book Science Service

Would you like to have your own, personal robot? You could play with him, and he might be pretty helpful too. You might teach him to do your chores and maybe even to go to school for you when you're sick!

There are some scientists who are trying to develop robots that might be just what you're looking for.

So far, the robots can sort cubes into piles, build towers, and get around a cluttered room without bumping into things. That's not bad, but the scientists still have a lot of work to do to make their robots really "smart."

If you have ever tried to teach a dog a trick you have some idea of the kinds of problems these scientists have to solve. The robot has to learn to take orders.

It has to learn a language, even though it may never "talk." In order to teach a robot to fetch your slippers you have to make it understand a lot of things like: "go away, find the slippers, bring them back to me."

The robot has to know what slippers are and where they're kept. Then it has to be able to move its "arms" to pick them up.

Of course, the robot has to know who you are and how to find you when it's located your slippers.

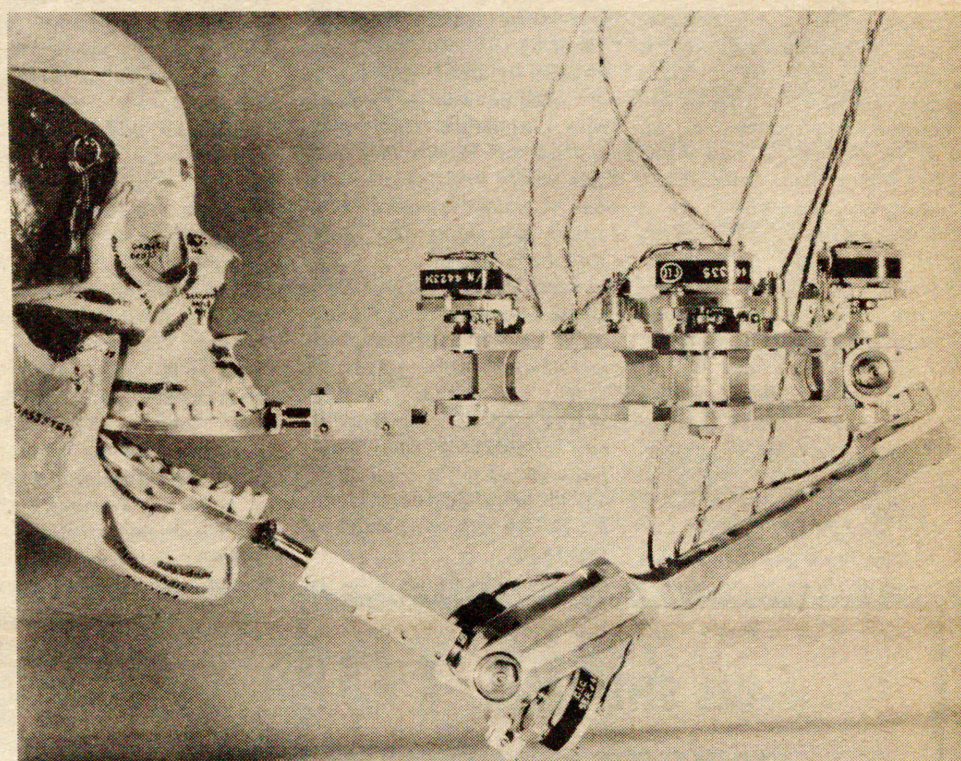

A lot of information has to be fed into the robot's computer brain, and the brain itself has to be properly designed, but the scientists are hard at work.

They want very much to have robots which can do chores under water or in outer space. And as soon as these robots are developed, the scientists can start working on your friend, the robot.

Can you figure out a 12-letter word that describes what your robot will need and put the letters in the boxes at right?

The first two letters spell a word that means the opposite of "out"; the next four letters spell another word for "speak"; the next letter is what you call yourself; and the last five letters sound like a word for "men".

ANSWER: INTELLIGENCE.

Measuring Movements Of the Human Jaw

Copyright 1968 World Book Science Service

The subtle and complicated motions of the human jaw, long obscure to dental researchers, can now be analyzed with ease and accuracy by this small, lightweight device developed at the General Electric Research and Development Center for Marquette University's School of Dentistry.

Constructed of aluminum and weighing only 20 ounces, it measures six angles of jaw movement, and provides electrical signals that can be coupled directly to an analog computer.

The device is expected to be used initially for the study of the retrusion (backward) motion of the jaw during swallowing, which is important in the fitting of dentures.

It may also be used in

Are You A New Publicity Chairman? Here's A Handy Guide

The following article is from the April 15, 1967 issue of the Saturday Review. These examples should be written on the hearts of those in the communication field as a handy guide:

Marie Longyear, manager of editing services at McGraw-Hill observes that "a forceful type of expression is what the writer can be able to achieve following perusal of the following rules as to good usage and grammar which all writers ought to be appraised of." And then continues:

1. Subject and verb always has to agree.
2. Being bad grammar, the writer will not use dangling participles.

3. Parallel construction with coordinate conjunctions is not only an aid to clarify but also is the mark of a good writer.

4. Do not use a foreign term when there is an adequate English quid pro quo.

5. If you must use a foreign term, it is de rigor to use it correctly.

6. It behooves the writer to avoid archaic expressions.

7. Do not use hyperbole; not one writer in a million can use it effectively.

8. Avoid cliché's like the plague.

9. Mixed metaphors are a pain in the neck and ought to be thrown out the window.

10. In scholarly writing, don't use contractions.

11. A truly good writer is always especially careful to practically eliminate the too-frequent use of adverbs.

12. Use a comma before nonrestrictive clauses which are a common source of difficulty.

13. Placing a comma between subject and predicate, is not correct.

14. Parenthetical word however should be enclosed in commas.

15. Consult the dictionary frequently to avoid misspelling.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson of 108th Ave. and Mrs. Anderson's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moffet, recently returned from six weeks in Europe. They flew to London and enjoyed the usual sightseeing.

Three days were spent in Holland on a "Happy Holland" tour traveling by Edropabus motorcoach. The tour started in and returned to Amsterdam with a night in Arnhem and one in Rotterdam. Many miles were driven over land reclaimed from the sea. Roads built on top of dykes led thru scenic and historic villages such as Edam and Gouda, the streetless village of Gie-thoorn, Delft, The Hague, past windmills and castles centuries old. Boat rides were taken thru canals and the Rotterdam harbor.

The Andersons and Moffets then left Amsterdam, again by motorcoach, on a Rhine River tour visiting Dusseldorf and the Cathedral in Cologne. The first night was spent in Koblenz from where, in the morning, a three hour cruise of the Rhine Gorge was enjoyed visiting the famous Lorelei Rock, continuing by bus to Wiesbaden, over night at Frankfurt and the following day through the Neckar valley and the Black Forest past the Rhine Falls terminating the tour in Lucerne, Switzerland.

In Lucerne a "fondue party" was enjoyed. A boat ride to Mt. Pilatus, a cograil car up the mountain and a cable car down and the scenery were breathtaking.

They then rode a train to Stuttgart, rented a car and drove to Burgbernheim where the Moffet's daughter and family live. The Andersons stayed four days in Germany visiting Windheim, Nuremberg and Rothemburg and then flew from Frankfurt to Gothenburg, Sweden where the Moffets joined them ten days later.

This was Mr. Anderson's first visit to the "old country" since leaving there 42 years ago. It was great fun meeting relatives and a royal welcome was everywhere. Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Moffet met uncles and cousins they had never seen. As "Chicago Swedes" they report not doing too badly with the language.

Last Tuesday, July 23rd, about 14 members of the Ladies Aid of Christ Lutheran Church were guests of Mrs. A. Karre, Laguna Woods. Some of the ladies had a swim in their pool, followed by a luncheon. Mrs. Karre has invited the ladies for the past several years.

Lt. (J.G.) Thomas Sheber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Scheber of Orland Park was united in marriage last week to Miss Sharon Ulmer of Meridian, Miss., at Pensacola, Fla. The couple had a military wedding in the Chapel at the Navy base, followed by a reception at the Officers Club. At Easter time, Sharon visited the Scheber's and met several folks in Orland Park.

Thomas has about four more months of training at Corpus Christi before he will receive his wings.

Craig Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Young of Orland Park, is stationed with the U.S. Navy in San Francisco, California. They are recent parents of a baby girl. They live in Spring Valley, which is about 23 miles East of where he works at the Fleet Computer Center. He states that California is very pretty country and the weather is always nice, but he still prefers good old Orland Park.

He would enjoy hearing from friends - his mailing address is Mr. and Mrs. Craig Young, 459 Parkbrook, Spring Valley, California, 92077.

Mrs. Russell Cox returned home Monday from New Jersey where she attended services for her brother who had died suddenly in New York.

Richard DeLano
Associate Extension Adviser
Horticulture, Cook County
University of Illinois

When planning a vacation or weekend outings, treat your family to the sight of a two-acre flower garden of 1,500 varieties of annuals and bedding plants at their color peak which is from now to September.

The Trial Garden at the University of Illinois in Urbana, is one of the most complete displays of annuals in the Midwest. Located near the corner of Florida and Lincoln Ave., it is maintained by the Division of Floriculture and Ornamental Horticulture for its teaching, research and extension programs.

Among the many versatile flowering annuals that add color to any flower bed, the petunia reigns as the number one plant. More than 350 varieties will be in bloom.

In addition to the petunia varieties, you will see 125 varieties of snapdragons, 100 zinnias, 40 salvias, 35 celosias and many other flowers. This year's garden also includes 15 of the new seed-grown geranium varieties.

The garden is one of 28 cooperating trial gardens in the All-America Selections program organized by the seed trade for educational and promotional purposes. The All-America Selections are made annual for the most outstanding performance in growth habits, flowering and resistance to disease and insects.

Each year, amateur and professional growers enter new plant varieties -- 50 entries this year -- from which the All-America Selections are made. Winning entries are then introduced and promoted commercially. These are the varieties of the future.

The 1968 winners are seed geraniums "Carefree -- Bright-Pink," "Carefree -- Deep Salmon" and "Carefree-Scarlet;" tall hybrid marigolds "Orange Jubilee" and "First Lady;" celosia (cockscomb) "Golden Triumph;" zinnia "Wild Cherry;" and verbena "Blaze."

Steam Show Opens Today At 4-H Field

There's something about a steam engine....

The sixth annual show of the Will County Threshermen's Association opens today at Francis 4-H Field, Francis Rd., for a four-day run and before it closes Sunday night it is expected to attract thousands of visitors.

Steam engine buffs will travel long distances to see these ponderous machines in action. As a matter of fact the engines can be still as there are many who will get pleasure just from viewing and getting close to these old steam plants.

There will be an admission of $1 for adults but youngsters under 12 will be admitted without charge.

The grounds will come to life around 10 o'clock each morning and activities will cease at 5 p.m., except on Saturday when the closing hour will be 8 o'clock.

The engines will pass in review of the bleachers each afternoon of the four days, beginning at 2 p.m.

Some of the show will be devoted to performing the tasks that were once the duty of steam. There will be a saw mill in operation, according to those in charge of the show, oats threshed, corn shelled, feed ground and many other jobs done with the help of steam.

An antique auto exhibit will be held in conjunction with the steam engine demonstrations. Horse drawn plows will see action and for those who would like to dip far back a yoke of oxen will be on hand.

Contents of the courthouse corner-stone will be on display in the Exhibition Hall. And 4-H groups will operate refreshment stands.

The 4-H Field where the show is being held is on Francis Rd., about three miles west of Wolf Rd. in Mokena, and a mile east of Cedar Rd., if one approaches from the west. Francis Rd. is about one mile north of U.S. 30.

Open Letter from the HIRSCHS'

Dear friends,

In thinking about reasons to be thankful, such as abundant food, education, security - the fact that many human problems remain to be solved is also reason to be thankful.

How would each generation grow in maturity, wisdom and compassion if it were not for the problems left unsolved or created by the previous generation?

Let us be thankful both for our blessings and our burdens which help us to grow in the image of our Creator.

Sincerely,

Carl Hirsch

Hire New Principal For Oakview School

Robert K. Jenkins, who for the past two years has served as assistant to the superintendent of the Flora (Illinois) Township High School, has been appointed principal of Oakview School in the New Lenox grade system.

The announcement was made by Supt. Arnold Tyler. Jenkins will take the place of Michael Kruck, principal at Oakview for the past six years, who asked to be relieved of administrative responsibilities and allowed to resume teaching in the social science department.

Mr. Jenkins is a native of Girard, Ill. He received a portion of his educational training at Blackburn College and was graduated from Southern Illinois University in 1963 with a BS degree in education (social studies major and biology minor).

In 1967 he received his master's in educational administration and supervision at Eastern Illinois University. He has done post-graduate work at SIU also and is now working toward his Specialist Certificate in Education at Eastern.

Besides his schooling in education, Jenkins also is a graduate of the Dallas (Tex.) Institute of Mortuary Science and after serving his apprenticeship at Girard and Virden was licensed in Illinois as a mortician.

At Flora he was active in leadership roles in program development and supervisor of instruction. Previously he had taught psychology, economics, geography, sociology, world history and American history. Jenkins also holds a Specialist Certificate in Guidance and has had experience in the guidance and counseling field.

He is a member of the National Education Association, the Illinois Education Association, Illinois Council for Teachers of Social studies and the Clay County Education Association.

He and his wife, the former Audrey Bailey, of Monroe, La. will move to New Lenox this month.

Householders in the neighborhood of the Chicago Sanitary District's sludge dump, between Harlem and Ridgeland avenues, and U.S. 30 and 183d St., are feeling better now.

Last week the sanitary district trustees reportedly decided against going forward with the project. The plan had been to turn some 2,200 acres into a dump for sludge from the Stickney and Calumet sewage treatment plants.

A tract of some 800 acres owned by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago, was looked upon as a key piece. At the behest of protesters from neighboring communities, spearheaded by the Tinley Park Chamber of Commerce, and including the villages of Matteson, Frankfort and others, John Cardinal Cody went on record as saying the Church would not sell the property to the Sanitary District and would resist any attempt to condemn it.

Some 500 persons from the area chartered special buses and attended a recent hearing on the program before the sanitary district trustees. Last week the trustees decided to abandon the plan.

And at a special meeting of the legislature, now ended, a move to open the way for the Sanitary District to condemn land outside of Cook County for a sludge dump, was defeated. There was talk that the trustees had been casting their eyes toward Will and Kankakee counties.

Attorney Albert H. Kruse-

mark, of Frankfort, was one of the leaders in the fight to ban the sludge dump.

Add 2 Administrators To Jr. College Staff

The board of Illinois Junior College District 525 (Joliet Junior College) recently met in executive session and selected two new administrators for the college, according to Elmer W. Rowley, president. Dr. Joseph C. Piland was selected as dean of college parallel and general studies and James J. Hines was selected as director of business affairs. They will be recommended for appointment at the next regular meeting of the junior college board Aug. 12.

Hines, of Kankakee, has been selected to serve as director of business affairs for Illinois Junior College District 525. He will replace Berle Needham, Mokena, who has resigned after serving on a temporary basis during most of the past school year.

Since graduating from Southwest Missouri State College in 1949, Hines has worked as a teacher of business, as a school superintendent and as a business manager in the schools of both Missouri and Illinois.

For the last eleven years he has been assistant superintendent and business manager for Kankakee School District 111, which has a student population of 8,000 and 400 professional personnel.

His master's degree in school administration and business was awarded by Washington University at St. Louis. In 1961 he received an Advanced Certificate in Education from the University of Illinois where he is currently enrolled in a doctoral program with a major in school administration and labor and industrial relations. He is a member of numerous professional organizations and has published articles in both the American School Board Journal and School Business Affairs.

At Kankakee Hines was also active in community organizations. He served on the budget committee for the United Fund Charities, was planning chairman for the war on poverty committee and recreational chairman of the Manteno Sportsman Club.

Hines, 42, is married and the father of five children ranging in ages from seven to twenty. He expects to report for his new assignment the first week in September.

Dr. Piland received his doctorate in educational administration from Illinois State University in June 1968. He was granted a University Fellowship for the school year 1967-1968. Prior to entering the doctoral program he was a school administrator in the public schools in Illinois for seven years and has had teaching experience in Illinois and Michigan.

During his doctoral program, Piland prepared for junior college administration, including formal courses, one internship at Thornton Junior College and another with the staff of the Illinois Junior College Board. His junior college experience also includes administrative work with Carl Sandburg College at Galesburg, Ill., during its first months of operation.

Dr. Piland, 35, and Mrs. Piland and their two sons plan to move from Normal, Ill. to the Joliet area in the near future.

Illinois facts pointing up the state's major economic assets, are featured in a wallet-sized "Illinois Credit Card" just published by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

Give your gas heating system something to do this summer.

Like cool your home.

Hey there, you with the vents in your wall! You're halfway toward owning an ultra-modern, gas central cooling system—one with no electric window units to block your view. No mechanical grumbles to keep you awake.

Because the same duct system that heats your home can cool with gas just as easily. (Something to keep in mind if you're building a new home and want it to stay modern.)

Once you buy the missing half of gas central air conditioning, you'll have the most comfortable cooling system known. Because gas central air conditioning not only cools...but dehumidifies, too.

So call us. Hear about our 5-year payment plan, free

5-year service warranty, and low summer rates. If you want to switch to clean, versatile gas—we'll even finance the conversion with your heating contractor.

See? Your gas heating system has no excuse for not having anything to do this summer.
